Begin plan said insufficient

Israeli withdrawal insisted by Sadat

ISMAILIA, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat declared today he will insist on withdrawal of all Israeli forces from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, to be followed by self-determination for the Palestinians.

Twenty-four hours before he was to meet here with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin to talk peace, Sadat gave indirect notice that Begin's reported plan was insufficient.

The plan is said to call for a council of Israelis, Jordanians and Palestinians to administer the West Bank and Gaza Strip, with the question of sovereignty put in abeyance for five years and Israel presumably continuing to maintain a military presence there.

"We shall insist on the withdrawal of Israeli forces from your land, and after that you shall determine your destiny," Sadat told a delegation of Palestinians from the West Bank.

"Tell them (in the West Bank) that their time of suffering has ended," Sadat declared. "Peace based on justice is coming. Their long night is about to end."

Referring to radical Arab critics who have called him a traitor for his dealings with Israel, Sadat said, "We shall not heed their barking," a telling insult in the Moslem religion which regards dogs as unclean. "The (peace) caravan shall continue."

Sadat was to review Egypt's negotiating position with his policy-making National Security Council. His remarks to the Palestinians evidently set the tone for the Christmas summit with Begin, who reportedly will bring important concessions.

Top Jerusalem sources said one proposal is for a council of Israelis, Jordanians and local Palestinians to administer the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

The question of sovereignty over the region, captured in the 1967 war, would be left open for five years, at which time it would be reviewed by the council and possibly put to a vote, they said.

Begin outlined the plan Friday for members of his Likud bloc and the Democratic Movement for Change, his largest coalition partner, and received their endorsement, the sources said.

The prime minister has said publicly he will propose self-rule — with a continued Israeli military presence —

As Mideast leaders meet

Traditional journey to Bethlehem opens

BETHLEHEM, Occupied West Bank (AP) — A colorful religious motorcade today rolled through the sun-washed Judean wilderness toward Bethlehem, beginning the traditional Christmas pilgrimage to the town of Christ's birth.

Msr. Giacomo Guiseppe Beltritti, the Roman Catholic patriarch of Jerusalem, donned black robes trimmed with scarlet before leading the slow-moving caravan from Jerusalem down the narrow, winding five-mile road to Bethlehem, and the 800-year-old Church of the Nativity.

Dozens of prelates wearing scarlet sashes across black robes accompanied the patriarch.

After a week of rain, a chill December sun broke through and bathed the route, heavily patrolled by armed Israeli troops on watch against possible Arab guerrilla attacks.

An Arab in medieval garb, a red fez atop his head, led the procession, tapping a silvertipped staff to announce the patriarch's coming. Israeli mounted police flanked the motorcade in a ceremonial honor guard.

While millions follow the sacred festivities here marking the birth of Jesus, Egyptian and Israeli leaders meet by the Suez Canal on Christmas talking about bringing peace to the troubled Holy Land.

Bethlehem's Manger Square has been transformed from its usual parking-lot status into a brightly lit, festive plaza for the thousands expected to listen to carols from a dozen choirs.

The choirs include groups from South Africa, Belgium, West Germany, Scotland, England, Israel and Bethlehem itself. The United States is represented by two Texas chorales, from Longview First Baptist Church and Baylor University.

At midnight, Catholic mass will be celebrated before a few hundred visitors who obtained much-sought-after passes into St. Catherine's Roman Catholic Church, which adjoins the 800-year-old Church of the Nativity.

Thousands are expected to brave the December chill to watch the mass projected onto a huge screen hung in front of the police station in the square. The service will be beamed worldwide on television.

When mass is over, Beltritti will place a wooden image of the baby Jesus on a satin pillow and carry it from St. Catherine's to the Grotto of the Nativity, a small cavern under the church where a silver star marks Jesus' traditional birthplace.

Israeli officials expect 15,000 visitors to jam this Arab town, almost half the 38,000 tourists now in the Holy Land.

Today's pilgrims, like millions before them, they bent down to enter the Church of the Nativity through a small opening. The main entrance was walled up centuries ago to keep out cavalry attackers.

The hall, with its imposing stone columns and arching wooden ceiling, contains paintings, mosaics and inscriptions dating from the 12th century. It leads to a series of alcoves and chapels administered by the Catholic, Greek Orthodox and Armenian faiths that share the church.

WAITING FOR ST. NICK — The Rodger Mickle family, 511 W. Circle Ave., examines some of the presents already under their Christmas tree with hopes that more will be found tomorrow following an annual visit from Santa Claus.

Focus on Middle East

Christians prepare for Yule holidays

By The Associated Press
The Christian world prepared for Christmas today, with attention focused on the Middle East — the birth place of Christ and the scene of a Christmas Day summit between Egypt and Israel.

President Carter planned a Christmas Eve meeting with striking farmers in his hometown of Plains, Ga., today.

Carter, who invited four farm leaders to meet with him at his family home, asked for specific proposals from the farmers and promised to explain the steps his administration has taken to improve their economic condition, according to deputy press secretary Rex Granum.

Sources said the meeting between Begin and Sadat in Ismailia, Egypt, on Sunday, a follow-up to their historic first meeting in Jerusalem earlier, would include presentation of an Israeli proposal to establish a council made up of Israeli, Jordan and local Palestinians to administer the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

In the seat of worldwide Christianity — Bethlehem — hundreds of tourists began arriving under gloomy, rain-swept skies Friday.

Israeli officials estimated about 15,000 pilgrims will pray in or around the 800-year-old Church of the Nativity and take part in weekend festivities in the town where Jesus was born.

Holiday decorations glittered in Manger Square, and a 30-foot Christmas tree towered over the plaza. But not all the visitors were pilgrims; Bethlehem has been under Israeli military occupation for the past 11 years, with Israeli soldiers patrolling the town.

And in Belfast, Northern Ireland, security forces were on full alert following a warning by Irish Republican Army guerrillas that they will not observe their usual three-day Christmas cease-fire this year.

Some IRA sources warned the guerrillas will intensify attacks over the Christmas period. Seven hotels in the province were bombed earlier this week and a dozen stores and businesses have been attacked.

Traditional cease fire to go unobserved

No truce in Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — "Good Will To All Men," said the Christmas message sprayed on the window of a store on Royal Avenue, scene of many of Belfast's bombings.

"Fat chance," muttered a British soldier, automatic rifle in hand, as he passed the store with a military patrol.

Security forces in this turbulent province, torn by sectarian feuding and insurrection for more than eight years, are on full alert following a warning by Irish Republican Army guerrillas that they will not observe their usual three-day Christmas cease-fire this year.

"Christmas could be anything but a time of good will for us," an officer of the Royal Artillery's 47th Field Regiment said as he led the patrol down Royal Avenue, its stores decked in yuletide finery.

Christmas shoppers busily looking for last-minute gifts hardly noticed the soldiers or appeared to heed the warnings from the outlawed IRA's Provisional wing.

They have lived with the bloodshed and destruction, in which nearly 1,800 people have been killed, for so long that the sight of guns and the threat of bombings no longer means much. Most people will stay at home for Christmas as they have since 1969 when "the troubles" erupted. Traveling outside their own districts can be dangerous.

The IRA, fighting to end British rule and Protestant domination in Northern Ireland, decided not to give the province's 1.5 million people a Christmas respite this year apparently to counter British pronouncements that the guerrillas are being beaten.

Some IRA sources warned the guerrillas will intensify attacks over the Christmas period. Seven hotels in the province were bombed earlier this week and a dozen stores and businesses have been attacked.

The attacks gave the troops a double headache. Not only must they combat the guerrillas, but with British firemen staging a national strike in a pay dispute the soldiers also have to put out fires started by terrorist bombs.

Hundreds of civilians will have off-duty soldiers in their homes for Christmas dinner. But as in past Christmases, these soldiers have been warned of ambush and boobytrapped "Christmas presents" handed to them in the street.

The hundreds of extremist prisoners in Ulster's jails will have a quieter Christmas than the soldiers who put them there. Prison authorities have notified the families of nearly 700 "special category" inmates in the Maze Prison that 14 pounds of cooked sausages can be sent to each of the 12 compounds.

Each compound, holding about 60 men, also can have 160 mince pies, 160 pastries, 13 Christmas cakes and 20 two-pound Christmas puddings along with one turkey for every 10 prisoners.

But, the authorities stressed in letters to the men's families, "The turkeys may not be stuffed." Explained a prison official: "Good will or not, there's always a chance someone will try to smuggle a gun or a hacksaw into the prisoners in a turkey."

Mother pleads for missing son to return home

ALEXANDRIA, Ky. (AP) — Judy Holliday is trying to be as optimistic as she can be about the fact that an extensive 42-hour search failed to uncover any clue to the whereabouts of her 5-year-old son.

"We're hoping someone just wanted a little boy for the holidays and that maybe they'll bring him back after Christmas," said Mrs. Holliday, who survived the May 28 fire at the Beverly Hills Supper Club where she was a waitress.

Mrs. Holliday and her husband, Michael, agreed Friday to call off a search for their son, Keith, by about 1,000 people, but offered a $10,000 reward for his return.

The youngster was last seen going out to play Wednesday.

"I just want him home for Christmas," Mrs. Holliday admitted while standing next to a Christmas tree in the living room. "The sad part is Keith was really looking forward to Christmas. He couldn't wait for it to come."

"I have all his gifts put away."

Police also have drawn some comfort from the fact that no clues had been found despite the extensive search by fire and police departments from several surrounding northern Kentucky communities.

"The fact that the boy has not been found inspired the parents and it has inspired us," admitted Capt. Dale Fortner, of the Kentucky State Police. "Because of the cold weather, we believe that there would have been problems for the boy for the time that he would have remained out."

Fortner said the possibility of abduction "is certainly a part of our investigation — although there are many leads that we are still going to have to check up on."

Police said they have not been able to come up with anyone who might have anything against either Holliday. The father is a manager of a finance company's branch office.

For Jack Bailey, Alexandria chief of police, it was a frustrating three days spent in the command post, down the road from the Holliday home, located in a subdivision in the rolling and wooded hills of Campbell County.

"We went over this area with a fine tooth comb and still don't have anything," Bailey said.

Divers went into the lakes and ponds in an area within a 10-mile radius of the Holliday home. Bloodhounds were used and police mounted on horseback made their way through the woods. Helicopters moved back and forth over the area.

Hundreds of people answered the call for volunteers broadcast over citizen band radios, while youngsters took their motorbikes over the trails.

The county road department took the day Thursday to join in the search.

"We had people calling us from all over," Bailey said. "I guess that Christmas, and the fact that it was a small boy, that had something to do with it."

"Christmas kinda brought people together."

Several other local accidents probed

Jamestown driver hurt in mishap

A 16-year-old Jamestown driver suffered minor injuries in a severe crash early Saturday on Pleasant Road just north of U.S. 35.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported Michael Camstra, 16, of Jamestown, claimed injury after he lost control of his car around 12:05 a.m., struck two trees and overturned. The youth was not treated at the time of the accident.

Camstra was northbound on Pleasant View Road when he lost control along a left curve and traveled over 60 feet off the left roadside. According to the sheriff's department report, the vehicle continued on another 75 feet across the road and crashed into two trees.

Sheriff's deputies said the impact with the tree caused the car to turn over on its left side in a ditch.

One car sustained severe damage in a collision on W. Court Street west of Circle Avenue Friday, according to Washington C.H. police officers.

Clarence E. Gesselman, 48, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., was cited after he tried to change lanes while eastbound on Court Street and struck another eastbound car in the curb lane. The accident occurred around 2:25 p.m.

Gesselman's vehicle was moderately damaged. The other car was driven by James A. Dobbins, 39, of 412 E. Market St. No injuries were reported.

Neither driver was injured in a collision early Saturday in the Washington Square Shopping Center parking lot which resulted in moderate damages to both vehicles, police reported.

Nancy I. McCallister, 20, 718 Eastern Ave., told investigating officers she had stopped before crossing the entrance from E. Elm Street in the lot, but didn't see the other car entering.

Melanie L. McArthur, 18, 1021 Lakeview Ave., stated she had stopped for oncoming traffic before turning left into the lot from E. Elm Street and allowed another car to exit the lot. When she drove into the parking lot, Ms. McCallister drove across her path and the cars collided about 12:25 a.m., the report stated.

There were no injuries.

Police officers cited Penny L. Downard, 29, of 5361 U.S. 35-SE, after she pulled from a parked position on Columbus Avenue at Woody's Union 76 service station and struck a car, which was westbound, around 2:55 p.m. Friday.

Neither she nor the other driver, Wilma L. Bogard, 47, of 816 E. Paint St., were injured.

In several minor collisions reported by police:

Howard C. West, 70, 607 Campbell St., was cited after he reportedly rear-ended another vehicle on N. Hinde Street at W. Market Street Friday about 10:15 a.m.

He had been driving behind another car when it turned right off Hinde Street onto Market Street and stopped for a car which was backing from a parking space at the Post Office. The other driver was Elden L. Kirk, 57, 1937 Bogus Road-SE. Damage to both vehicles was reportedly slight.

Richard L. Pierce, 20, of 6821 Cross Road, reportedly backed from a parking space in the Terrace Lounge parking lot and sideswiped a car parked next to his around 12:35 a.m. Friday. The parked car, belonging to Rene Arnal of Louisville, received minor damage.

Sometime Friday night, police officers reported, an unidentified driver struck a car, belonging to Diana L. Ford, 2513 Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, while it was parked in the Kroger-Savon store parking lot. The damage was slight.

Police also reported a minor collision Thursday night at the Clark Oil service station on W. Court Street.

Michael L. Logsdon, 18, of 510 Cline Road, backed up at the fuel pump and struck a car, driven by Danny R. Aills, 32, of 228 Wagner Way, around 9:15 p.m., according to the police report. No one was injured.

Greenfield man arrested after restaurant scuffle

A Greenfield man was arrested Friday and charged with assault following a scuffle with Washington C.H. police officers at a Columbus Avenue restaurant.

According to a police department report, two officers had placed 26-year-old Michael R. Dunn of Greenfield under arrest for disorderly conduct when he refused to walk to the police cruiser. The man allegedly pulled away from the officers, became abusive and struck Patrolman Steven R. Jennings.

The blow reportedly knocked the officer's glasses off causing them to break. With aid from Patrolman Anthony Wilson, Jennings placed Dunn against the patrol car, handcuffed him and transported him to the police station. The incident occurred in the parking lot of the Drummer Boy Restaurant, 1209 Columbus Ave.

Dunn was also charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He has been released on bond.

An unidentified person tried to break into a Sycamore Street residence late Friday.

Washington C.H. police officers reported the would-be burglar removed a screen from a bedroom window at 630 Sycamore St. and had tried to remove the window from its track.

Susan Davis of 630 Sycamore St. reported to police investigators around 11:37 p.m. that nothing appeared to be missing. Police officers said no known entry was made.

A car, reportedly stolen sometime Wednesday from the Calmar parking lot, 2550 Kenskill Ave., was later recovered at a bus depot in Columbus, according to a Washington C.H. Police Department report.

Colder weather will be returning to Ohio.

A winter storm is developing in the great plains and is forecast to move to southwestern Michigan this evening and up the St. Lawrence valley early Christmas day.

Clouds will be on the increase today with showers moving into the southern counties this afternoon and into the north during the night. The showers will change to flurries by Christmas morning.

There is a very good possibility for a white Christmas, especially in the northern part of the state.

The national weather service says that wintry conditions will prevail Christmas day with periods of snow and highs in the upper 20s and lower 30s. The mercury will really take a dive tomorrow night with low readings in the single digit numbers and teens... a touch of an old fashion christmas as the old timers would say.

By The Associated Press

Monday through Wednesday: Chance of snow flurries northeast Monday, otherwise fair Monday and Tuesday. Chance of snow again Wednesday. Unseasonably cold Monday and Tuesday with highs in the teens and low 20s and lows from five to 15. Temperatures moderating Wednesday to highs in the upper 20s to low 30s and lows from 10 to 20.

Cynthia Backenstoe, 1223 Washington Ave., stated to police her 1974 model Plymouth was taken between 7:50 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday while parked in the factory lot. She said her daughter may have taken the vehicle without Ms. Backenstoe's permission following a dispute.

An 80-year-old local woman suffered minor injuries when she fell in the parking lot at Helfrich Market, 806 Delaware St., Friday morning.

The Fayette County Life Squad transported Opal M. Todd, 80, of 1128 S. Main St., to the Fayette County Memorial Hospital around 10 a.m. She was reportedly treated for injuries to her shoulder and later released.

According to Washington C.H. police officers, Ms. Todd was walking to her car after leaving the market and fell over a cement block in the lot. She reportedly asked a witness to call the life squad.

Fire slows silo search

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A fire broke out early today in three grain-laden silos ripped by an explosion at a grain elevator two days ago, temporarily slowing the search for four persons missing in the blast that has killed 32 persons.

Firemen said they had trouble getting water up to the fire atop the 250-foot tall silos. However, they suspected that cracks in the silos caused by Thursday's blast prevented detonation of the grain dust, which is highly explosive when compressed under certain weather conditions.

"It's not going to go anywhere," said Dwight Duway, dispatcher for the suburban Duway Fire Department. Duay said the fire took about three hours to put out.

When the fire broke out, rescue crews and relatives of victims were moved back to the Mississippi River levee. But because the area being dug out by recovery crews is on another end of the silo complex, the crews soon went back to work, a company spokesman said.

The blast tore the tops off 43 of the silos of Continental Grain Co.'s 73-silo complex on the Mississippi River, just across from New Orleans.

The explosion hurled large slabs of reinforced concrete onto a ground-level laboratory room crowded with employees. Most of the victims were buried in the lab under tons of concrete and twisted steel.

Six of the survivors were in critical condition late Friday.

Originally, Continental officials estimated that there were 25 persons buried in the debris. But it was learned later that seven federal grain inspectors, five painters and a farmer picking up feed also were in the area of the explosion.

Speed limit to save 100 lives

By The Associated Press

The nationwide 55 mph speed limit is expected to save as many as 100 lives during the Christmas holiday traffic period, the National Safety Council estimates.

The council estimated that between 380 and 480 persons might die on the nation's roads during the period, which began as 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

During the early hours of the period, 12 persons had died in traffic accidents.

department suggests stringing hickory nuts, walnuts, horse chestnuts, Chinese chestnuts, buckeyes, small pine cones and crab apples on fishing line for decorations.

If you've got all those growing in your backyard, you've got a tree farm.

The department suggests tying pine cones, buckeyes, milkweed pods and teal together to make tree ornaments; wrapping evergreen garlands around the bird feeder post (so the squirrels can more easily get to the sunflower seed); and tying a bunch of other stuff — oak balls, pignuts, acorns, and bittersweet berries to plastic foam cutouts for other decorations.

The time needed for all this runs the project into the new year, with no time for shopping, partying or mailing Christmas cards.

President's holiday interrupted

Sympathetic Carter meets angry farmers

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President Carter, who angered some farmers by refusing to speak at a strike rally, sat down privately today with their representatives to express sympathy for their cause and hear their fivepoint demand for higher prices.

Carter interrupted his Christmas holiday to meet at his home with a delegation of four farm strike leaders.

They want higher prices guaranteed by the government.

"He'll tell us what he thinks we can do to help us achieve that," said Georgia strike leader Tommy Kersey, a member of the delegation meeting with the president.

Carter sympathizes with the striking farmers, said White House deputy press secretary Rex Granum. During the meeting, Granum said, the president intended to "once again outline what the Carter administration has done already this year to try and help."

In the past, Carter has cited passage of the 1977 farm bill, increases in loan levels and target prices, establishment of farmer-owned grain reserves, linking income support levels to the cost of production and increasing farm exports.

Carter, who is spending Christmas with his family in his south Georgia hometown, refused a speech request from about 1,000 farmers who demonstrated for higher prices Friday by blocking Main Street with pickup trucks and tractors.

Many wanted Carter to climb onto a flatbed truck outfitted with a microphone and loudspeakers and address the crowd.

Instead, Carter telephoned Harold Israel, a Plains farmer and personal friend. Granum said the president considers Israel to be "a very well respected member of the protest group."

Carter asked Israel to set up today's meeting at the president's rambling brick home. He invited Israel, Kersey and strike leaders from Florida and Alabama. Who would be selected to represent those states wasn't known Friday night.

The president, Granum said, has "clearly demonstrated his sympathy with the strike. ... He feels it's important, that they do have problems."

But, Granum added, "We didn't think that it would be appropriate that he go to the demonstration. Solely because there is a demonstration, that does not necessarily mean that he needs to go and address the protesters. ...

"The farmers have met with his top domestic adviser (Stuart Eizenstat) and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland in Washington, and the secretary talked to them in Macon 10 days ago," Granum said.

"It's more appropriate that he meet with representatives of the group who bring to him a list of their proposals."

Municipal Court

Fine, jail term suspended on city income tax charge

A local woman, charged with failing to file her 1975 city income tax return, was found guilty Friday and sentenced to 10 days in jail in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Sara Carr, 41 Rowe Ging Road, was originally charged with violating City Ordinance 9-75 on Aug. 25 along with 105 other city residents and four local business firms. She was scheduled to appear in court on the charge Oct. 13, but five continuations and a rescheduled delayed the hearing until Friday.

Municipal Court Judge Gary C. Stout ordered the sentence and a $100 fine suspended on the condition Ms. Carr files the delinquent tax return with the city tax administrator within 30 days. She was also ordered to pay the court costs Friday.

Mary D. Kingery, 37, of Octa, was found guilty of petty theft by shoplifting and sentenced to six months in the Fayette County jail.

Ms. Kingery was arrested on a private warrant by Washington C.H. police officers Thursday. She was held in the county jail in lieu of bond until her hearing Friday.

The judge suspended all but five days of the sentence and gave her credit for the one day she has served in jail. She was also fined $350 and court costs with $50 of the fine suspended if it was paid Friday.

Raymond E. Jackson, 38, 535 Columbus Ave., was convicted of disorderly conduct by intoxication and fined $65 and costs.

Trio innocent in Klan riot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three men charged with inciting violence at a Fourth of July Ku Klux Klan rally on the Statehouse steps were found innocent Friday by a Franklin County Common Pleas Court jury.

One of the three, George Preston, 29, of Cincinnati, was also found innocent of a charge of felonious assault.

The jury deliberated after about four hours before handing down the decisions in favor of Preston, Wilfred Allison, 30, of Akron, and Thomas Welch, 27, of Cleveland.

Testimony was heard all week in the trial. On Tuesday, Dale Reusch of Lodi, Ohio, imperial wizard of the Ohio Ku Klux Klan, had to be rushed away from demonstrators at the Hall of Justice by sheriff's deputies after testifying as a prosecution witness.

Reusch was one of several KKK men and women who held a rally against school busing at the Capitol but were interrupted by a crowd of protesters.

Police also had to help Reusch and his following leave the Capital grounds in July after a club-swinging melee.

So it was a pleasure for the Record-Herald for the third year in a row to take a peek into the North Pole mailbox at some of the hundreds of annual letters to Santa Claus (spelled variously Clause, Klaus, and Clas), with Santa's permission of course. . . .

Amind the misspelled words, incomplete sentences and painstakingly drawn pictures were found humor, pleading, persuasion, ingenuity, and even some pathos. . . .

Not be considered a sovereign government, but a kind of joint committee "to work out problems that arise in implementation of a peace agreement."

Such a plan would appear to dovetail with Sadat's stated desire to see a West Bank-Gaza entity linked with Jordan. Sadat admitted the summit could end in failure if neither side softened its position.

Capturing spirit of Christmas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Capture the spirit of Christmas," read the news release from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. " . . . decorate your home with the simple, earthy textures, fragrances and colors of natural materials you can collect from your own backyard."

First, it noted, you need to cut down a Christmas tree.

Who in his right mind is going to cut that backyard evergreen which cost $30 in 1967 and was planted to hide the blight in the neighbor's backyard?

Then, said the news release, decorate with pine cones, nuts, teal, milkweed pods, crab apples and cranberries.

Ohio pine cones usually grow to the size of a healthy hickory nut. Most cones of any size — four to eight inches long — come from the Deep South and are sterilized, deburred and treated for disease to pass muster for interstate shipment. And they bring several pretty pennies at the Christmas decorating store.

Teasel and milkweed pods in the backyard? You paid the lawn fertilizing firm $200 last summer to keep them out of your yard. How dare the department say they should abound in the backyard?

Crab apples and cranberries? If either had a good crop this year they've been eaten, canned or pickled by now. Others were either eaten by birds, soured or frozen.

Pine cones, the department says, can be wrapped with string, sprayed with red, gold, silver and green paint and sprinkled with glitter. Four cans of spray paint, at $1.29 per can, plus $1.98 for a shaker box of glitter, equals the price of a Scotch pine on sale at the shopping center parking lot.

Making Christmas calls is as easy as this.

On Christmas Eve, make your long distance call before 6 p.m. Otherwise, when you go to give it the old Ho, Ho, Ho, you might hear a Buzz, Buzz, Buzz. Because Christmas is one of our busiest telephone times of the year. And we wouldn't want a busy signal to interrupt your season's greetings.

On Christmas morning, call before 9 a.m. That way, you'll have a better chance of keeping your Christmas jingle from getting jangled. And remember, you can save some holiday money by dialing those long distance calls without the operator's help.

On Christmas Day, call between 1 and 5 p.m. And if you should get a busy signal, try again in 5 minutes. Now from all of us to all of you, have a Happy Holiday. And may all your calls go merrily through.

Opinion And Comment

'New pride' in Denver

Denver's New Pride program to give hard core juvenile delinquents a decisive lift through education and counseling has been a smashing success. So much so that the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has designated it an "exemplary project" and thus recommended it for other cities.

This accolade appears to be thoroughly justified. The Denver project is both humanitarian and practical. It deals with juvenile offenders not by meting out tough-punishment, but through intensive effort to correct their learning disabilities and enrich their cultural backgrounds. That may sound Pollyanna-ish, but it works. The success rate has been phenomenal, the estimated savings over jail costs around $1 million so far. Communities throughout the nation would do well to emulate what is being done in Denver.

A day of surprises! A favor you recently bestowed is amply repaid and there's likelihood that you'll hear from an old and dear friend you have been missing for some time.

Some planetary restrictions. Don't depend on the promises of others and don't make any binding agreements yourself. Otherwise, day has fine potentials.

A fine day for achievement; also for making new contacts. In fact, there will be quite an accent on social and personal interests now.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Excellent planetary influences. You will not have to strain to accomplish now. A good period for building up your potentials, reviving a project previously set aside.
PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Do not make any final decisions until you have had enough time to weigh all the pros and cons. And, even if you make one which you consider final, you may have to make later revisions.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a keenly analytical mind; are scholarly and intellectual in your leanings. You have a lively imagination, are inventive and may be attracted to scientific experimentation. Capricornians are frequently imposed upon by family and associates because they are friends and glad to be helpful and they conscientiousness and trustworthiness is such that when they give of their aid it is to the utmost. You are somewhat of an introvert by nature and this frequently leads to moods of deep depression.

FOR MONDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1977
ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
There is a present tendency to take on more activities than you can reasonably handle. Avoid! You know what this has meant before!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Some restrictions where personal relationships are concerned. Don't try to force issues. Associates won't go along.
GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Be patient if you encounter delays and obstacles to your plans, but don't bring them on yourself through vacillation, irresolution. Step forward with confidence.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Planetary restrictions limit now and you may feel free to go ahead with recently stymied projects. Just one admonition: Do not make decisions in haste.
LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Solar influences stimulate movement, ideas for expansion. Get at basics, clearly understood means of planning and action.

Fine Mercury influences spur incentive, stimulate good ideas — many of which may be distinctly novel. Capitalize on all during this good period.
LIBRA

An ideal day in which to gather in the fruits of past endeavors. Reward may come in the form of a promotion — with expanded prestige.
SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Take the necessary measure to protect certain economic interests which may have been threatened. You can do it, but you'll need a cool, level head.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Now's the time to make the effort toward the attainment of a major goal. You have plenty of stellar support to back you.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Your outlook similar to that of Sagittarius. If you are bursting with self-confidence, as you should be, this is the day for gaining cooperation in putting over a pet project.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Several chances to do better than usual. Take advantage of all worthwhile opportunities. A good period in which to try out new ideas and methods.
PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Aspects now increase your desire for further recognition and prestige. Both can be attained by using a new approach. Don't stymie yourself by sticking to the traditional.

YOU BORN TODAY are an outstandingly intelligent individual, endowed with boundless ambition and the perseverance required to reach your loftiest goals. You are scholarly by nature and often prefer seclusion to the company of others. Your sense of responsibility is outstanding and you are extremely conscientious in all that you undertake. However, you have a streak of obstinacy that borders on the dogmatic at times.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 27
ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
Some recent puzzling situations and trends need to clarify, so it will be easier for you to plan ahead along lines both pleasing and beneficial.
TAURUS

You may run into snags or obstacles, but you can handle them. Think over similar experiences of the past and profit by them.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Don't let yourself be influenced by first thoughts, first impressions. You could be mistaken about motivations, intentions. Give all the benefit of the doubt.
CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Lunar influences fine. You can now go ahead with ideas, plans, important decisions. But do so along conventional lines. Avoid extremes.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Stellar aspects favor romance, marital happiness, dealings with the opposite sex generally. Should be an all-around nice day.
VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Keen perception needed. Don't risk assets on the basis of "information" backed by nothing substantial.
LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
If you do not understand a situation, seek counsel from more experienced heads. Do not rely on guesswork. It could only lead to confusion.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
A self-possessed, untruffled manner, coupled with a sound investment of time and energies, are this day's requirements. Heed!
SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Especially favored now: personal relationships and cultural pursuits. Stress your tact and amiability and you can't help but earn credits.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Stellar influences now stimulate your personality and your talents, but you must USE them. A day for logical thinking and acting.
AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
The Aquarian's innate good judgment should help you find satisfactory solutions to possible problems. Benefits indicated as a result of past good will.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
A day for compromise — not for stirring up. Use the always reliable "velvet glove" treatment in difficult personal relationships.
YOU BORN TODAY are a happy combination of the studious and the practical. Your business acumen is outstanding and yet, withal, you have exceptionally strong leanings toward the scholarly and the intellectual; may have took, a religious bent or, on another plane, a deep affinity for the occult. Science is another of your fortes and your patience in research and meticulousness in handling details could lead you to great success in this field.

"MY CHRISTMAS SHOPPING IS NOT HALF DONE AND ALREADY I'M FACED WITH A COST OVERRUN."

Exploding gas eyed

Mysterious boom theories studied

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Those mysterious booms high in the sky off the Atlantic Coast could be caused by exploding gas bubbling up from underwater garbage dumps, says one scientist.

That is one theory. Others speculate that they are sonic booms or come from outer space.

New explosions were heard Wednesday night by several residents along the New Jersey coastline.

"My whole house shook," said Ted Weeks, a fisherman at Barnegat Light. "Almost immediately the second report followed, but not near as loud. It was very distinct. The whole of Long Beach Island, I'm sure, heard it. You had to be dead not to have heard it."

Two similar but stronger blasts startled residents from Connecticut to South Carolina on Dec. 2.

Scientists at Columbia University's Lamont-Doherty Geophysical Observatory in Palisades, N.Y., said its instruments recorded those booms and five more on Dec. 15.

The equipment did not register Wednesday's reported blasts.

The explosions have been accompanied by reports of lights in the sky, sometimes a luminous glow.

Dr. Edward Chiburif, assistant director of the Weston Observatory of Boston College, said he suspects the sounds are sonic booms.

Dr. William Donn, head of atmospheric sciences at the Lamont-Doherty Observatory, said he was sure they are not sonic booms.

Ocean County, N.J., civil defense authorities said they had confidential information the blasts occurred in outer space. Federal officials discounted the outer space theory.

The garbage gas theory comes from Dr. Stanley Klemetson, environmental engineering researcher and associate professor of civil engineering at Colorado State University.

He said it is likely that a build-up of sludge deposits on the ocean bottom from dumping of treated wastes and garbage has produced anaerobic gases such as hydrogen and methane.

"As these gases accumulate beneath the sludge, sufficient quantity can collect to break through the layer and rise to the surface of the ocean," he said.

If warmer than the surrounding air, the gas will rise into the atmosphere, he said.

"Natural static electricity caused by wind friction is sufficient to set off the explosions," Klemetson said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Someone's stealing! Must be reported

DEAR ABBY: My mother is in a nursing home. She is 88 and partially senile, but at times she is very sharp. I have brought her new nightgowns, underwear, robes and sweaters, and even had name tapes made and sewn into her clothing. But the next time I visit her, they are nowhere to be found. The last time I was there I looked in her drawer and she didn't even have a change of underwear!

I asked the head nurse what happened to my mother's clothes, and she said she didn't know. I then went to the superintendent and asked her, and she said, "Even the bed sheets disappear around here!"

Abby, either the patients steal from each other or the help steals, but I can't prove anything. What should I do?

HELPLESS
DEAR HELPLESS: Report the nursing home to your State Department of Health and demand an investigation.

Nursing homes must meet certain standards in order to be licensed, and none may operate without a license. Reasonable security for the patients and their property must be provided.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I had a small dinner party to which I invited my husband's boss, whose wife was out of town.

At the last minute, just to balance my table (and because I felt sorry for her), I invited Juliet, a young friend who had recently lost her husband.

To make a long story short, my husband's boss and Juliet "discovered" each other and a torrid romance developed. Abby, I never dreamed she would look twice at a married man, and I didn't think he was the type to cheat on his wife.

Now the man has left his wife and is seeing Juliet, and I am being blamed for getting these two infidels together. I swear I had nothing of the kind in mind when I invited them to my home. How can I convince the small-minded people in this little town that I am entirely innocent of any wrongdoings?

INNOCENT
DEAR INNOCENT: There is no way to have predicted that your husband's boss would play Romeo to your friend Juliet. Ignore the talk and don't try to establish your innocence.

DEAR ABBY: My niece, who lives in New York, recently married an Italian man and moved to Italy. I was unable to attend the wedding, but I sent them a pair of expensive sterling silver candlesticks.

A friend has now informed me that I imposed a very expensive burden on the young couple because they will have to pay a stiff duty on my gift that may even match the price of the gift! I feel terrible about this, and hope to make it up to the young couple in some other way.

In the meantime, you could do a real service by letting others know about the high duty on gifts sent to Italy — especially since the recipients must pay the duty.

UNCLE SAL
DEAR SAL: I am informed that wedding gifts may be imported to Italy free of customs if the bride is marrying an Italian citizen who, after the ceremony, will reside in Italy permanently.

The wedding gift must be sent to Italy not later than six months after the wedding date. The marriage license and certificate of residence must be shown for exemption.

DEAR ABBY: Friends of ours just had a baby. Neither one of them smokes, but the proud papa felt obligated to pass out cigars to his friends in honor of the occasion.

My husband always accepts cigars from the new fathers although he never smokes them.

This seems like such a waste. Do you know of another way of sharing one's joy on the birth of a child?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: I'm stumped, too. But if anyone suggests a suitable alternative, I'll pass it along.

Two winter swine update schools available to area farmers

By JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Improving the dollar returns from pork production will be the primary concern of two winter swine update schools available to Fayette County pork producers on Jan. 3 or Jan. 4.

The Jan. 3 meeting will be held in Kettering Hall on the Wilmington College campus. The Jan. 4 session will be held at Westfall High School in Pickaway County. Both sessions start at 9 a.m. and will conclude by 3:30 p.m. The program for the swine meetings will be the same each day. Topics covered will include: controlling pests including rats and birds by Dave Gerber, area extension agent, swine industry. The pork outlook for 1978 will be covered by Herb Hadley, extension economist at Ohio State University.

Tom Price, of Producers Livestock Association, will cover marketing and price trends.

Engineering factors will be covered by two Ohio State University agricultural engineers. Richard White will discuss waste handling facilities and the latest EPA regulations affecting pork producers. Ventilation factors to be considered in remodeling old buildings will be covered by Bill Schnug.

THE AFTERNOON program will consist of a discussion of nutrition research by William Newland, animal science specialist at Ohio State University; a reproduction update from Gerber; and a discussion of the advantages of Ohio over the southern states in pork production by Allan Lines, farm management specialist Ohio State University.

The program will be full of many ideas to help pork producers put more money in their pocket. Advance registration is not needed.

SHEEP PRODUCERS attending the final session of the sheep management update school Wednesday evening heard a progress report on the newly organized lamb teleauction. The teleauction was formed by Mid-States Lamb Producers Association in an effort to provide sheepmen with a new marketing alternative. The lambs are sold by telephone while they are still on the farm. The lamb producer consigns his lambs through Producers Livestock which handles the mechanics of the sale. The lamb producer indicates how many lambs he will sell, the approximate weight and grade. After the telephone sale, the buyers indicate what date during the next week he will take delivery. Lambs are then delivered to one of several assembly points around the state and are weighed and graded.

Wednesday night's report indicated 1,083 lambs had been sold through the first two teleauctions this fall. Sheep producers present who participated in one of the sales indicated satisfaction with this new method of lamb marketing. Future sales are being planned to handle lambs on a bi-weekly basis starting next spring.

IMPORTANT DATES listed in the 1978 Farmers Tax Guide remind us that January 16, 1978, is the deadline for filing the declaration of estimated income tax for farmers. Form 1040-ES, for 1977 must be filed and estimated tax must be paid by this date if you want to wait until April 17, 1978, to file your 1977 tax return. Individuals who qualify as farmers who do not file an estimate must file their Federal Income Tax return by March 1. These and other important dates and details are listed in the Farmers Tax Guide which is available at the Extension Office.

TICKETS ARE on sale now for the Monday, January 9, 1978, Fayette County Cattlefeeders Banquet. Speaker at the event will be Jack Cline, Professor of Animal Science at Ohio State University.

A FINAL NOTE for this week. On behalf of all of us in the Fayette County Extension Office, we extend our wishes that you have a Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year.

Despite other purchases

Grain buys by China slight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although China has bought some soybeans, cotton and soybean oil from the United States this year, prospects for it buying wheat or other grain continue to be slight, the Agriculture Department said today.

A month ago, rumors circulated that China had purchased or was on the verge of buying U.S. wheat. Department officials discounted those reports at the time, and no evidence has surfaced since to indicate such sales.

The department said in a report included in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture," published by the Foreign Agricultural Service, that sales of soybeans, cotton and soybean oil to China so far this calendar year total about $100 million.

Although this is up dramatically from only $44,000 worth of U.S. farm commodities sold to China last year, it is far below the record $664 million worth of products, including wheat, sold in 1974.

The report was written by Carolyn L. Whitton and Frederic M. Surls, foreign trade analysts in the department's Economic Research Service.

In addition to the cotton and soybean oil, China recently bought more than 75,000 metric tons of U.S. soybeans. But that was part of an old order for 390,000 tons China had placed with an American company, with a provision the beans could come from sources other than the United States.

Thus, the remainder of the 390,000 tons was provided from other sources, meaning that the United States was the "residual" supplier for whatever could not be provided elsewhere.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

"At least part of the amount (of soybeans) purchased in the United States will be going to third countries to fulfill PRC (People's Republic of China) export contracts," the report said.

Miss Whitton, co-author of the report, told a reporter that trade sources indicate part of the U.S. soybean sale is going to Roumania. China also normally exports soybeans to Japan, she said.

The report said that China's oilseed situation "continues to be tight despite recent claims of an increase in the 1977 oilseed harvest," and for the second time since the People's Republic was formed in 1949, has become a net importer of soybeans and edible oilseed oils. The previous time was in 1973.

As of last September, the most recent month analyzed, China's oilseed exports this calendar year totaled 67,600 tons, primarily soybeans. That compared with 210,000 tons exported in 1976, considered a relatively low level of exports, the report said.

Looking at China's grain import situation, the report said that more than four million tons of grain have already been sought from countries other than the United States for delivery in the first six months of 1978. Traditional suppliers include Canada and Australia.

The report said China's purchases of soybeans and the other commodities "cannot be taken as an indicator" of a change in its policy regarding U.S. grain and agricultural products in general.

"The United States may still be functioning as a residual supplier," the report said.

Concord farmer named to 4th term on committee

Clyde R. Bower, a Concord Township grain and livestock farmer, was elected to a fourth three-year term on the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The election was held Dec. 20 at the ASC office, 1503 Columbus Ave., with the elected community committeemen from the five communities voting.

James E. Waddle, of Concord Township, a present member of the committee, was elected chairman; Bower, vice chairman, and George Speakman, of Jasper Township, as a member of the county committee.

Jess Schlichter, of Paint Township, and Carey A. Bock, of Jefferson Township, were elected as the first and second alternates to the committee.

Otties R. Smith, of Concord Township, the present chairman of the committee, was ineligible to be elected since he had served three consecutive terms.

The county committee is charged with administering the federal farm programs in the county, such as feed grain and wheat set aside, grain loans, grain and wheat set aside, grain loans, wool program and the agricultural conservation programs, also acting as liaison between the county and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Local farmer receives honor for 153.77-bushel corn yield

Fred Hoppes, 1450 Rock Bridge Road, was recently named a member of the DeKalb Yieldmasters Club for producing 153.77 bushels of corn per acre in 1977 from a selected area.

Hoppes' yield, based on 15 1/2 per cent moisture, was mechanically harvested from a solid block measure 1.150 acres. A reliable third party verified the high yield which was recorded from a field of DeKalb XL-78.

Planting, fertilizer and chemical application rates vary with conditions. However, the fertilizer program used by Hoppes included 200 pounds of nitrogen, 46 pounds of phosphate and 60 pounds of potash. Hoppes controlled weeds with Lasso at two quarts per acre and Atrazine at two pounds per acre.

Concerning the hybrid's performance, Hoppes said, "XL-78 is a consistent yielder. It stands good and has high test weight."

The purpose of the DeKalb Yieldmasters Club is to promote an exchange of ideas and information among the nation's leading grain producers and to recognize them for their outstanding accomplishments as well as their important role in helping feed the world. Through the sharing of such information, the program also encourages farmers to adopt management and cultural practices that will aid them in obtaining maximum profits from each acre.

Currently, farmers throughout the nation submit more than 1,500 corn, sorghum and silage yields a year to the club, which is sponsored by DeKalb Research, Inc.

Idled miner eyes holiday

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio (AP) — It should be a Christmas like those in years past for the Don Coates family of Middleport, even though Coates is one of 160,000 coal miners on strike.

"It's shaping up pretty good this year," Coates said. "We saved out of our paychecks every month just for such an occasion like being off work."

Now jobless and without union strike benefits, Coates is relying on his savings, some of which were siphoned off during a number of wildcat walkouts in the months leading up to the current nationwide coal strike.

"Everyone knew we were going to strike," he said of the current walkout. "The wildcat strikes drained a lot of savings, and mine are down from what they could have been."

Family activity three days before Christmas, though, was normal, said Coates, who lives a few blocks from the Ohio River.

"I'm fairly sure Santa will show up," he said.

On Thursday, Coates, his wife, and their two daughters were trimming their Christmas tree.

"My oldest kid... knows I'm on strike," he says. "Well Daddy's on strike again." Coates said. "Several of her classmates are miners' children so they're pretty well accustomed to us being on strike."

Coates has worked for Southern Ohio Coal Co.'s Meigs County mining operations for about four years.

"I never had any thoughts at all about going into this line of work," said Coates. He is the first member of his southeastern Ohio family in generations to work in the mines.

College gets farm as Yuletide gift

LAMONI, Iowa (AP) — A Christmas gift to Graceland college — a hard to wrap, but it's practical. It's a farm.

Paul Thompson, 50, donated his 475-acre farm and its feedlot to Graceland along with 600 head of feeder cattle, feed and other supplies, said Graceland President Frank Hough.

Neither Thompson nor his wife, Marjorie, attended the college, which is sponsored by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and adheres to that faith. But two of their children will attend the school after the first of the year.

Family eyes woman's offer

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Striking Ohio coal miner Jim Wheatley and his family say they were surprised when an Anchorage, Alaska, woman offered to share her Christmas cheer to make sure they have a happy holiday.

But Wheatley and his wife, Pam, said they could not accept the offer, although they were amazed that someone so far away would make such a generous offer.

"It's thoughtful and kind of her to offer, but we just can't accept it," Mrs. Wheatley said. "There's a lot of people worse off than we are. They would deserve it more."

"Our children are healthy and that's all we need for Christmas."

Hazel Burgos, a clerk for the Alaska Transportation Commission, read about the family's financial problems in an Associated Press story in an Anchorage newspaper. She wrote a letter to the Athens Messenger offering to pay Wheatley's $29 hospital bill and buy Christmas presents for his two children.

"I'm kind of that way," Mrs. Burgos said in a telephone interview. "I thought that if I could help a little, I might be able to boost his morale."

Years ago, Mrs. Burgos said she was alone on Christmas, when a family offered to share their Christmas with her. This year, she just wanted to repay that good deed by helping the Wheatleys, who live in Chauncey, Ohio.

Mrs. Burgos said she was disappointed when the Wheatleys said they could not accept her offer, but says she understands.

The program was planned and directed by Mrs. James Vess and Mrs. Carl Krieger, with Mrs. Michael Quinn of Columbus, the Music Director.

Also earlier in the day during worship service, Christmas carols were sung by Bok Do Kim and Soo Ja Kim and their daughters, Sung Eun, Sung Ai, and Sung Hoe, and their son, Sung Chrl. They were accompanied by Mrs. Carol Shirkey and Mrs. Jeannie Pavey. All wore their native Korean attire. As they sang "Silent Night", Sung Eau played the flute while the rest sang the last verse.

BANANA COBBLER — Bring back the good old days of yesteryear with this homemade Banana Ginger Cobbler just like grandma used to make.

Delectable banana desserts — with old fashioned goodness

Remember how good it was to be in grandmother's kitchen on baking day? All those mouth-watering aromas filled the warm room with promises of scrumptious treats to eat. And how impatiently we awaited their emergence from the oven!

Although much has changed since grandmother's day, the joys of creating special desserts still endure. And, how's another time-honored tradition—using versatile bananas as an invaluable dessert ingredient.

Bananas add moisture, singular flavor and natural sweetness to breads, cakes and other baked items, as well as important nutrients. Many vitamins and minerals are found in bananas including Vitamin A, potassium and calcium. What's more, bananas are cholesterol free and low in sodium, too.

Try them in Banana Ginger Cobbler, a sturdy family favorite on chilly winter nights. Crushed ginger cookies form the punchy basis of the cake-like topping. They also offer spicy contrast to the sweet sliced bananas and chopped prunes in the fruit filling. Served warm the cobbler may be served with cream or ice cream for extra richness.

MR. and MRS. HOWARD G. WRIGHT

Former WCH residents observe golden wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Wright were joined by many friends in a reception and dinner at the Bardmoor Country Club, Largo, Fla., in honor and in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, Dec. 14.

Following a social hour from 5 to 6 p. m., guests were seated at the dinner table tastefully decorated with floral arrangements contributed by friends for the occasion. A separate table was centered with a beautiful tiered wedding cake reminiscent of their wedding day since it was adorned by the same carefully preserved bride and groom of that day 50 years ago.

Surrounding the cake was a display of old pictures dating back to their baby days. Other pictures included those of their High School days and early years of their marriage. Pictures of their only daughter and five grandchildren were also on display.

Following the dinner, guests were invited to the new home of Mr. and Mrs.

Wright at 3693 Bardmoor Blvd., in Largo, where they enjoyed organ music with a number of the guests at the organ keyboard.

Those who enjoyed the gala party were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huff of New Philadelphia and Largo, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dietmeier of Largo, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maddox of Sun City Center, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Townsend of Washington C. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Goodard of Clearwater, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stewart, Mrs. Evelyn Anderson and Mrs. Mildred Boquist, also of Clearwater, Fla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chappell of Dunedin, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright were later joined by their daughter, the former Celia Ann Wright, and son-in-law, Dr. William Lovell of Bowling Green, Ky., thus concluding a week-long celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

Youngster wonders how Santa does it

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — Robert Huff is wondering how Santa does it. Robert, 10, couldn't quite get down the chimney.
Robert forgot his key when he left home early Thursday and found himself locked out when he returned a short time later with another youngster, said authorities.
Robert climbed on the roof and slipped down the chimney.
A neighbor, standing at her kitchen sink, saw the boy's head drop out of sight as he fell. She shouted to her husband and he called police.
Longview police and firemen found Robert had fallen about 10 feet and was wedged in the damper area, his legs dangling in the firebox.
Officers worked him free after a long struggle.
Bathwater was drawn for the soot-covered lad; and his father, Wayne Huff, reported his son was shaken by the experience, but was not seriously injured.

Cross-country skiing gains popularity

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Visions of another cold, snowy winter may make most Ohioans shudder, but to the state's growing number of cross-country skiers, the snow-covered grounds offer a quiet way to enjoy winter's natural beauty without the crowds or noise.

"Cross-country skiing is fast gaining popularity as a winter sport among recreation-minded Ohioans," said Ralph Vanzant, chief of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Parks and Recreation. "If you can walk, you can cross-country ski."

Requiring about as much physical exertion as hiking or ice skating, cross-country skiing is an extension of walking.

The sport originated in Europe, especially the Scandinavian countries, as a practical means of travel.

Today, anglers, hunters, photographers, birdwatchers and sports enthusiasts find cross-country skiing a quiet, efficient way to get around.

Commonly referred to as ski touring or Nordic skiing, cross-country skiing is enjoyed by families as a leisurely outing.

"The popularity of the sport has grown since last winter when we had an unusually heavy amount of snowfall," Vanzant said.

Cross-country skiing or ski touring allows singles, couples, families or groups to get some good outdoor exercise, enjoy Ohio's winter scenery and have a lot of fun.

A novice skier can tour about three or four miles during an outing, whereas an experienced cross-country skier could cover about 20 to 25 miles in a day.

Vanzant recommends the wilderness skier dress for comfort and protection against the cold and wind. The ski tourer should wear layers of light-weight clothing that can be removed if the skier becomes too heated with the exercise of touring. The clothing should be warm enough to provide protection from hypothermia, or exposure to the cold.

Compared with the cost of downhill or Alpine skiing, cross-country skiing is relatively inexpensive. Equipment needed to ski tour includes poles, boots and skis. All can be purchased for under $100.

Also, cross-country skiers do not have to drive long distances to slopes, pay for use of the facilities and then have to wait in long lift lines to be taken up the hill.

Cross-country skiers enjoy the freedom of being able to ski almost anywhere there is snow-covered ground. However, it is easier to ski on tracks already carved in the snow rather than breaking a new trail.

"Forty-one of Ohio's 65 state parks offer areas for cross-country skiing," Vanzant said. "The ski tourer can leisurely enjoy the many natural wonders found in a state park while skiing along the area's unplowed roads, hiking trails or bridle paths."

State parks which offer areas for cross-country skiing are open from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily, except John Bryan State Park in Greene County which closes one-half hour after sunset.

Those who have never been cross-country skiing or would like to learn more about the sport may want to attend ODN's annual Winter Workshop to be held at Pymatuning State Park near Andover in Ashtabula County Feb. 3-5, 1978. The workshop is designed to introduce participants to cross-country skiing, winter camping and nature awareness.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources will also conduct a cross-country ski tour and clinic Saturday, Feb. 18, 1978, at Punderson State Park in Geauga County. The clinic will include instructions on equipment and techniques, and a cross-country ski race.

A listing of Ohio's state parks offering cross-country skiing and also the winter activities available to each park is included in a "Winter Activities" brochure available without cost from the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus 43224.

POPULAR SPORT — A cross-country skier enjoys the freedom of being able to ski almost anywhere there is snow-covered ground. This popular winter activity offers a quiet way to enjoy winter's natural beauty without the crowds or noise.

Flynt makes man wealthy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — God and Larry Flynt got together and decided to make Paul Krassner a rich man. At least that's the way the newly named editor of Hustler tells it.

"God told him to hire me," said Krassner, the free lance journalist who wears scuffed boots, sleeps on the floor and will soon be making $90,000 a year as editor of "born again Christian" Flynt's born again skin magazine.

Flynt, publisher of the nation's third largest selling men's magazine, recently said he was going to both deepen his religious convictions and change the image of the sexually explicit magazine — the subject of obscenity trials in Ohio.

Last week Flynt announced a number of changes at Hustler, including a move from Columbus, Ohio, to Los Angeles and the appointment of Krassner as editor.

Krassner, in a recent interview, termed his appointment "absurd."

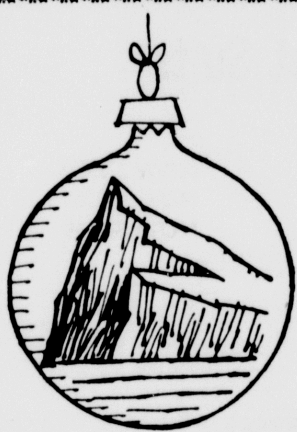

"And I love it. It's like a victory for the counterculture," he said.

The 45-year-old writer has fasted with Dick Gregory, done stand-up comedy routines with Lenny Bruce and become recognized as a journalistic spokesman for the radical left.

In San Francisco, Krassner works out of his cluttered bedroom-office with two typewriters — an electric and a portable "in case the electricity ever goes out."

During his career, which has included editing Bruce's "How To Talk Dirty and Influence People" and writing for Mad magazine and Steve Allen's television show, Krassner never made more than $15,000 any one year.

"I've been so happy while I've been poor that I don't think it will change me," he said.

May we extend the warmest wishes for the holidays and the coming new year.

Air Force engineer raises horses

DAYTON, Ohio — What does an Aeronautical Systems Division engineer do when he's not "engineering"?

If he's Nelson Wadsworth, he raises saddle-bred horses, rides with the Mounted Patrol of a local drill team, serves as a sheriff's deputy in Warren County, and operates a 100-acre farm.

Wadsworth is an electronic engineer with Aeronautical Systems Division's Deputy for Engineering, working on electronic equipment to support F-4 and F-5 aircraft at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton. After engineering for ten years, Wadsworth decided he wanted some form of physical exertion to compensate for his desk job.

"I needed a diversion," he said. "A 'different' past-time that would interest me and would require me to exercise. A farm fulfilled these requirements, so in 1959, I bought one — a 100-acre farm near Wilmington, Ohio."

How did this diversion lead Wadsworth to a "part-time" career as a sheriff's deputy and a mounted patrolman with the drill team?

"My daughter, Deborah Jane, initiated my interest in raising horses," he explained. "She's been a horse lover since she was old enough to walk."

"After I had the farm for awhile, I bought her some ponies, and eventually, her interest began to rub off on me. I bought a few Palominos for myself and one thing led to another. I learned to ride, then I learned to train horses, and finally, I started training them for precision riding."

"When I became good enough, I was selected to ride with the Mounted Patrol."

The patrol performs in horse shows, circuses, and parades. They also participate in a national drill competition, in which the winner is invited to ride in the Rose Bowl. "We've received an invitation to the Rose Bowl three times," Wadsworth said.

"We ride 'English-military' when we perform," he explained. "'English' refers to the style of the saddle, and 'military' refers to the close rank-and-file order of twenty six maneuvers. We go through the 26 maneuvers in exactly 12 minutes," he said.

Active in promoting horsemanship throughout Ohio, Wadsworth was instrumental in organizing a state-wide Horsemanship Council.

The "sheriffing" came about in February 1974, after which he became a lieutenant for the Warren County Sheriff's Department, a non-profit organization that functions as a public relations group for the sheriff's department. Wadsworth and the department performed with Evil Knieval at Kings Island, at the Cincinnati Air Show, and controlled traffic at selected jamborees throughout the state.

Wadsworth's wife, the former Mary Jane Fry of Cincinnati, Ohio, helps her husband and pursues her own avocation. "She's writing a book on genealogy, tracing our family roots," he said. "She has already traced us back to the 14th century."

The Wadsworths have two sons, Mark, 28, who is working on a farm in Clinton County, and Fred, 7, who is mechanically inclined and doesn't like horses at all.

Deborah Jane is now 18 years old and a freshman at Ohio State University, studying to be a veterinarian. She "practices" on Wadsworth animals.

The site of all the extracurricular activity is on Ohio 380, near Wilmington, Ohio.

PART-TIME CAREER — When he's not "engineering," Nelson Wadsworth, of the Aeronautical Systems Division at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, raises saddle-bred horses, rides with the Mounted Patrol and serves as a deputy in Warren County. "I enjoy riding my horses, and this one, Missy, is my pride and joy."

Holy Land's hotels jammed with pilgrims

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jerusalem's hotels are jammed with Christmas pilgrims, many of them lured to the Holy Land by the blossoming of new hopes for peace.

"This year's Christmas will have a special character and nature," said Micha Gidron of the Israeli Tourism Ministry. The Israeli-Egyptian peace talks "will be felt at Christmas," he added.

Nearly 37,000 foreign Christians, 10 percent more than last year, are expected for Christmas. And since President Anwar Sadat's visit to Jerusalem last month, bookings for next year "have been pouring in like rain," Gidron said.

He predicted a 20 percent increase next year in the 1977 record of a million visitors.

About 15,000 pilgrims will be in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve for the celebrations and services in the town where Christ was born.

The Rev. George Halil, a Greek Orthodox priest at the Church of the Nativity, feels there's a "good atmosphere" this year.

"For the first time in 10 years there are signs of a solution to the problems of our region," he said. "This brings Christians closer to Bethlehem, and encourages Christians from the farthest corners of the earth to make an effort and come here for Christmas." As in the past 10 years of Israeli rule, troops and police will patrol the hilltop town of 40,000 Christians and Moslems south of Jerusalem. Bethlehem will be sealed off to all visitors except those with special passes.

Security may be tighter this year because of the opposition of militant Palestinians to Sadat's solo peace effort.

Nine choirs from the United States and Europe are assembling to sing Christmas Eve in Manger Square, in front of the Church of the Nativity.

The festivities begin at noon Saturday with a colorful religious procession led by Msgr. Giacomo Giuseppe Beltritti, the Roman Catholic patriarch of Jerusalem. He will also celebrate the midnight Mass in the crusaders' church built atop the site where tradition says Christ was born.

The 90-minute Mass will be televised live around the world.

Aides' save-the-cities ideas unimaginative, Carter claims

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — President Carter has rejected the urban proposals drawn up by his top aides and has called for new ideas to save the cities.
For months, White House planners have been working on a blueprint to revitalize the nation's decaying cities. The president has been pressured by blacks, liberals and labor to come up with a comprehensive urban plan.
But at a tense White House meeting, Carter told his aides that he was disappointed in their recommendations. He dismissed them sternly as nothing more than a hodge-podge of existing programs. There was not one new idea in the whole report, he said. He emphasized that he didn't want to keep pouring federal funds down the same old rat hole.
The president did not say he was unwilling to spend more money to bail out the cities. On the contrary, he told the aides not to worry about the cost of the program right now. The important thing, he stressed, is to come up with some innovative ways to deliver the aid.
But a debate is raging within the Administration over how the urban pie should be sliced up. Some experts argue that the aid should be targeted at the most depressed cities, such as New York, Detroit and Newark.
However, one official confided: "Everyone here is absolutely convinced that the money cannot be directed just at distressed cities. Politically, we'd get killed. We'd never get it through Congress."

If the urban aid is earmarked for cities with high jobless rates and little growth, it will flow mostly into the older cities of the Northeast and Midwest.
But inside the White House, the planners have decided to share some of the wealth with the newer, more affluent cities of the sunbelt. "The money really isn't needed in the South and West," explained one insider, "but the White House is locked into a political decision to help them, too. That means less money for places like the South Bronx."
Housing Secretary Patricia Harris, meanwhile, is pushing for massive new aid to rehabilitate decaying neighborhoods and build new housing. "Pat Harris is coming around with her huge shopping list," chuckled one expert, "and the budget officials are choking on it."
We have obtained a copy of the urban proposals on the president's desk. They call for a special program "to employ minority youth and adults in weatherization, building rehabilitation and other energy-related activities." Federal tax policies should be changed to "favor private investment in distressed cities," the report adds. Health, education and transportation programs for the cities should also be improved.

Carter hopes to announce his long-awaited proposals in March.
BELEATED COMMENT: Last month, we revealed that a young recruit had died of medical neglect at the Navy's boot camp in San Diego after a toxic disinfectant made him ill. Navy Secretary Graham Claytor has now ordered a full investigation.
In our report, we quoted Navy documents that linked a disinfectant called Wescodyne to the death. We did not criticize the product but the Navy's mishandling of it.
Through a misunderstanding, we were led to believe the producers of Wescodyne had no comment on the incident. West Chemical Products, Inc., has now supplied us with a comment, which we are pleased to publish.
States the company: "Based on toxicity studies carried out by reputable independent testing laboratories, the various references in your article categorizing Wescodyne as a 'toxic' and 'hazardous' disinfectant are unfounded."
These references, of course, were taken from Navy documents. The company cites "additional studies" which show that even in concentrated form, Wescodyne "is neither a skin nor an eye irritant."
Continues the statement: "Although your article quotes from documents which suggest that the Navy recruit was suffering from severe liver damage caused by the probable repeated exposures at the recruit training command and that 'it is believed his liver was eroded by Wescodyne, a toxic disinfectant used carelessly at the Navy's boot camp in San Diego,' the symptomatology and pathology described in your article are not supported by any reports of Iodine-Iodophor toxicity."

There was also a question as to whether the disinfectant was properly labeled. Asserts the company: "The labeling and caution statements on the Wescodyne label are totally in conformance with all the requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency."
We also reported several days ago that Philippine exile leader Sergio Osmeña Jr., in a sworn affidavit had accused Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos of blackmailing him three times. In a nutshell, Osmeña swore that Marcos used his jailed son as a hostage to bring pressure on Osmeña to support his dictatorship.
We waited three days for comment from Marcos, and when it didn't come, we used a brief comment from the Philippine embassy instead. But we have now received a long cable from Marcos' office.
"President Marcos," states the cable, "has not authorized any negotiations with Osmeña or anything through any intermediary." The cable states that Osmeña made the first approach through a Marcos crony named Amelito Mutuc. At Mutuc's suggestion, Osmeña called Marcos directly from his haven in the United States and sought immunity to come home, the cable claims.
As for Osmeña's charge that his daughter was used as a conduit for a blackmail message from Marcos, the cable acknowledges that Marcos spoke with Osmeña's daughter but claimed it had to do with her wish to visit her father and her father's desire for immunity to come home.
A third, alleged approach, states the cable, was "not authorized."

Girl's murder case reopened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities say "some of the surprising details" brought out in the trial of a mentally retarded man acquitted of the 1975 murder of 14-year-old Christie Lynn Mullins have prompted them to reopen the case.
Jack Carmen, 27, was arrested for the slaying three days after the girl's body was found. Following his arrest and confession, police did not pursue other leads.
A common pleas court jury acquitted Carmen on Monday. He told reporters after his acquittal that he confessed to the girl's murder because police were nice to him.
During the trial, witnesses for the defense contradicted testimony of Henry Hester Newell Jr., who testified as an eyewitness to the killing.

Newell, 27, now is in the Chillicothe Correctional Institute serving a term for arson.
In announcing a decision to reopen the case, Franklin County prosecutor George C. Smith referred to testimony from Newell's mother-in-law about a statement that Newell had some information about the killing; testimony from a acquaintance who said Newell admitted killing the girl, and testimony by Newell's 12-year-old stepson contradicting events that led to the discovery of the girl's body.

Lions gift wrap Vikings, 84-58

Christmas comes a little early for Shaffer

By SCOTT SEFTON
Record-Herald Sports Writer

ASHVILLE, Ohio — The Washington C.H. Blue Lions handed head coach Gary Shaffer a premature Christmas gift last night as they whalloped the Teays Valley Vikings by a score of 84-58.

Senior standout John Denen had another brilliant night by pumping in 30 points. Denen also corraled 24 rebounds in his outstanding effort.

Denen's 30 point performance helped cushion his lead in the South Central Ohio League scoring race. In his last three outings, he has tallied 85 points for an average of 28.3 points a game. His overall average now stands at 22.8 while his league average is 23.6.

Junior Steve Pritchett played a superb game offensively as he tallied 26 points to back up Denen's output. He also pounded the boards for 11 rebounds. His smooth-as-silk shooting touch produced 12 field goals with many of them coming on radar bombs of 20 feet.

Another star for the Blue Lions was senior Donald Justice who poured in 13 counters to the team effort. Justice, who has suffered through a poor early season, connected on six of eight field goal attempts to hit 75 percent of his shots.

The Lions, who shot a dismal 28 percent against Wilmington last week, warmed up this Friday night to scorch the nets for a blistering 51 percent.

But, the biggest sroy of the night was the dominance of the boards by the Lions. With Denen and Pritchett leading the way, the Lions held an overwhelming advantage on the boards with the final count resting at 63-29.

Backing up Denen and Pritchett were Jeff Elliott and Mike Turner who each snatched seven missed shots. Senior guard Tom Bath tallied six.

Washington C.H. was never contested in the pre-Christmas laughter as they took a commanding first quarter lead of 23-5.

Denen and Pritchett had the hot hands in the first period as they combined for 20 of their teams' 23 points. Denen racked up 13 points by hitting six of seven shots from the floor. Pritchett added seven while Bath picked up the other three for the very comfortable 23-5 lead after one.

Denen and Mike Lamberson combined for six points to give the Lions a 29-7 lead. Pritchett scored five quick baskets near the close of the half to increase the Lion lead to a ridiculous 45-14 bulge.

Scott Lutz and Mark Prater scored a basket each to cut the lead to 45-18 at intermission.

In the second quarter, Lion fans watched their team shoot a blazing 71 percent from the floor while adding another 22 points to their score.

At the half, Denen and Pritchett each had scored 17 points while Denen had already scooped up 14 rebounds.

Third period action featured a run-and-gun horse race as the two teams combined to score 46 points — but, still the Lions held the edge at 25-21 in the quarter and 70-39 after three periods.

The Vikings showed some offensive fire power in the third quarter but their disastrous first half proved to be too much to overcome.

Denen again led the troops with eight tallies while Bath contributed six and Pritchett chipped in with five.

With the game wrapped up, Shaffer gave his front-liners a rest in the fourth quarter and emptied his bench. The Vikings outscored the Lions, 19-14 in the fourth quarter but the damage had already been done.

Denen scored five more before departing while Pritchett added four more and Justice dropped in three.

The Vikings were paced in the scoring by John Sanders and Prater, who each produced 13 points. Rick Queen chalked up 10 counters.

But, Denen, Pritchett and Justice proved to be too hot to handle as they took the 84-58 decision to give them a 5-1 mark for the season at the holiday break.

Bucks pile up six technicals

Milwaukee 'bucks' referees

By The Associated Press

Referees have taken their share of abuse this National Basketball Association season, and Friday night was no exception.

The Milwaukee Bucks piled up six technical fouls — two each by Coach Don Nelson, assistant coach John Killilea and forward Dave Meyers — and were outscored 29-13 from the free-throw line in a 109-93 loss to the Atlanta Hawks.

"This definitely was the lowest point of the season, this particular whatever you want to call it, fiasco," said Nelson, who was seething at the disparity in fouls and at the way he felt the officials, Earl Strom and Mel Whitworth, let the Hawks get away with an illegal zone defense.

In other NBA games, the Detroit Pistons edged the Chicago Bulls 108-107, the New Jersey Nets trimmed the Buffalo Braves 103-102, the Portland Trail Blazers topped the Los Angeles Lakers 108-98, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Houston Rockets 107-101, the Phoenix Suns defeated the Boston Celtics 129-110 and the Golden State Warriors edged the Denver Nuggets 98-95.

Atlanta Coach Hubie Brown conceded that to make up for a lack of talent, his club resorts to a limited zone, one he says is permissible under NBA rules. "The rules say that if you're six to eight feet away from a man, it's legal," said Brown. "You just cannot have a guy stand in the lane."

Brown contended the Bucks had used a zone in erasing a 28-point deficit to win 117-115 in Atlanta Nov. 25.

John Drew led a balanced Atlanta attack with 20 points and Tony Robertson scored 18. Milwaukee trailed by just seven points with six minutes left to play, but baskets by Robertson, Tree Rollins and Drew and a free throw by Robertson (following Meyers' second technical) made it 98-84 with 3:54 to go.

Rookie Marques Johnson topped Milwaukee with 21 points.

Pistons 108, Bulls 107

Referees Ed Rush and Hue Hollins incurred the wrath of Chicago Coach Ed Badger, who watched the Pistons take 42 shots from the foul line to 28 for his Bulls. Detroit forward John Shumate was most noticeable, sinking 15 of 18 free throws among his 23 points.

"I told the officials that I thought they were from Notre Dame," said Badger, "because every time we face Shumate or (Los Angeles' Adrian) Dantley, they're on the foul line all night long."

Bob Lanier scored 12 of his team-high 24 points in the final 6:46 for the Pistons.

Nets 103, Braves 102

Buffalo, nursing a one-point lead, lost the ball on a charging call against Billy Knight with 51 seconds left. The Nets capitalized as Howard Porter hit a jumper from the left of the key for the winning points with 24 seconds left.

Blazers 108, Lakers 98

Portland continues to roll, posting its sixth straight victory and 34th in a row (including playoffs) at home and raising its record to 24-4, tops in the NBA. The Blazers led by as many as five points throughout the second half of their first meeting with Pacific Division rival Los Angeles. Maurice Lucas scored 20 and Bill Walton 19 for the Blazers, while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 27 for the Lakers.

Spurs 107, Rockets 101

George Gervin hit 10 points as San Antonio outscored Houston 24-6 in the last six minutes of the second period, hitting eight of their last nine shots for a 60-48 halftime lead and the Spurs held on.

Suns 129, Celtics 110

Reserve guard Ron Lee contributed 18 points, seven steals and nine assists as Phoenix won its eighth in the last 10 starts and handed Boston its fourth straight loss.

Warriors 98, Nuggets 93

Robert Parish scored 13 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter as the Warriors recovered from a sluggish 16-point first period to deal Denver its fifth straight loss.

Former junior college star

Springs from bench to bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ron Springs, the most heralded junior college rusher two seasons ago, was riding the Ohio State bench in 1976.

The swift Virginian, sought by almost every major power a few months earlier, was second fiddle to Jeff Logan. But Springs understood.

"Sure, it was disappointing. And I had several schools contact me when it happened.

But Jeff wasn't making any mistakes. You know Coach (Woody) Hayes was going to play him," recounted Springs.

Still, you don't idle a back long who has scored 53 prep touchdowns and 25 more in a single junior college season. Springs had shredded junior college defenses for 1,800 yards and collected another 236 yards in the Wool Bowl against New Mexico Military.

Of course, Hayes realized that.

Spring's opportunity came in the Orange Bowl against Colorado last January. Hayes opted for his blur backfield — Logan and Springs interchanging at fullback and tailback.

Even though he worked a lot in Orange Bowl practices, Springs was still surprised when he played so much in a 27-10 victory over the Buffaloes.

"I was unaware of what was going on," he said. "With that backfield, it was a sudden change. But I had to make the most of my opportunity."

The 6-foot-2, 196-pound junior did. He piled up 98 yards against Colorado and followed with 1,108 yards this fall, the sixth Ohio State player ever to reach 1,000 yards rushing in a single season.

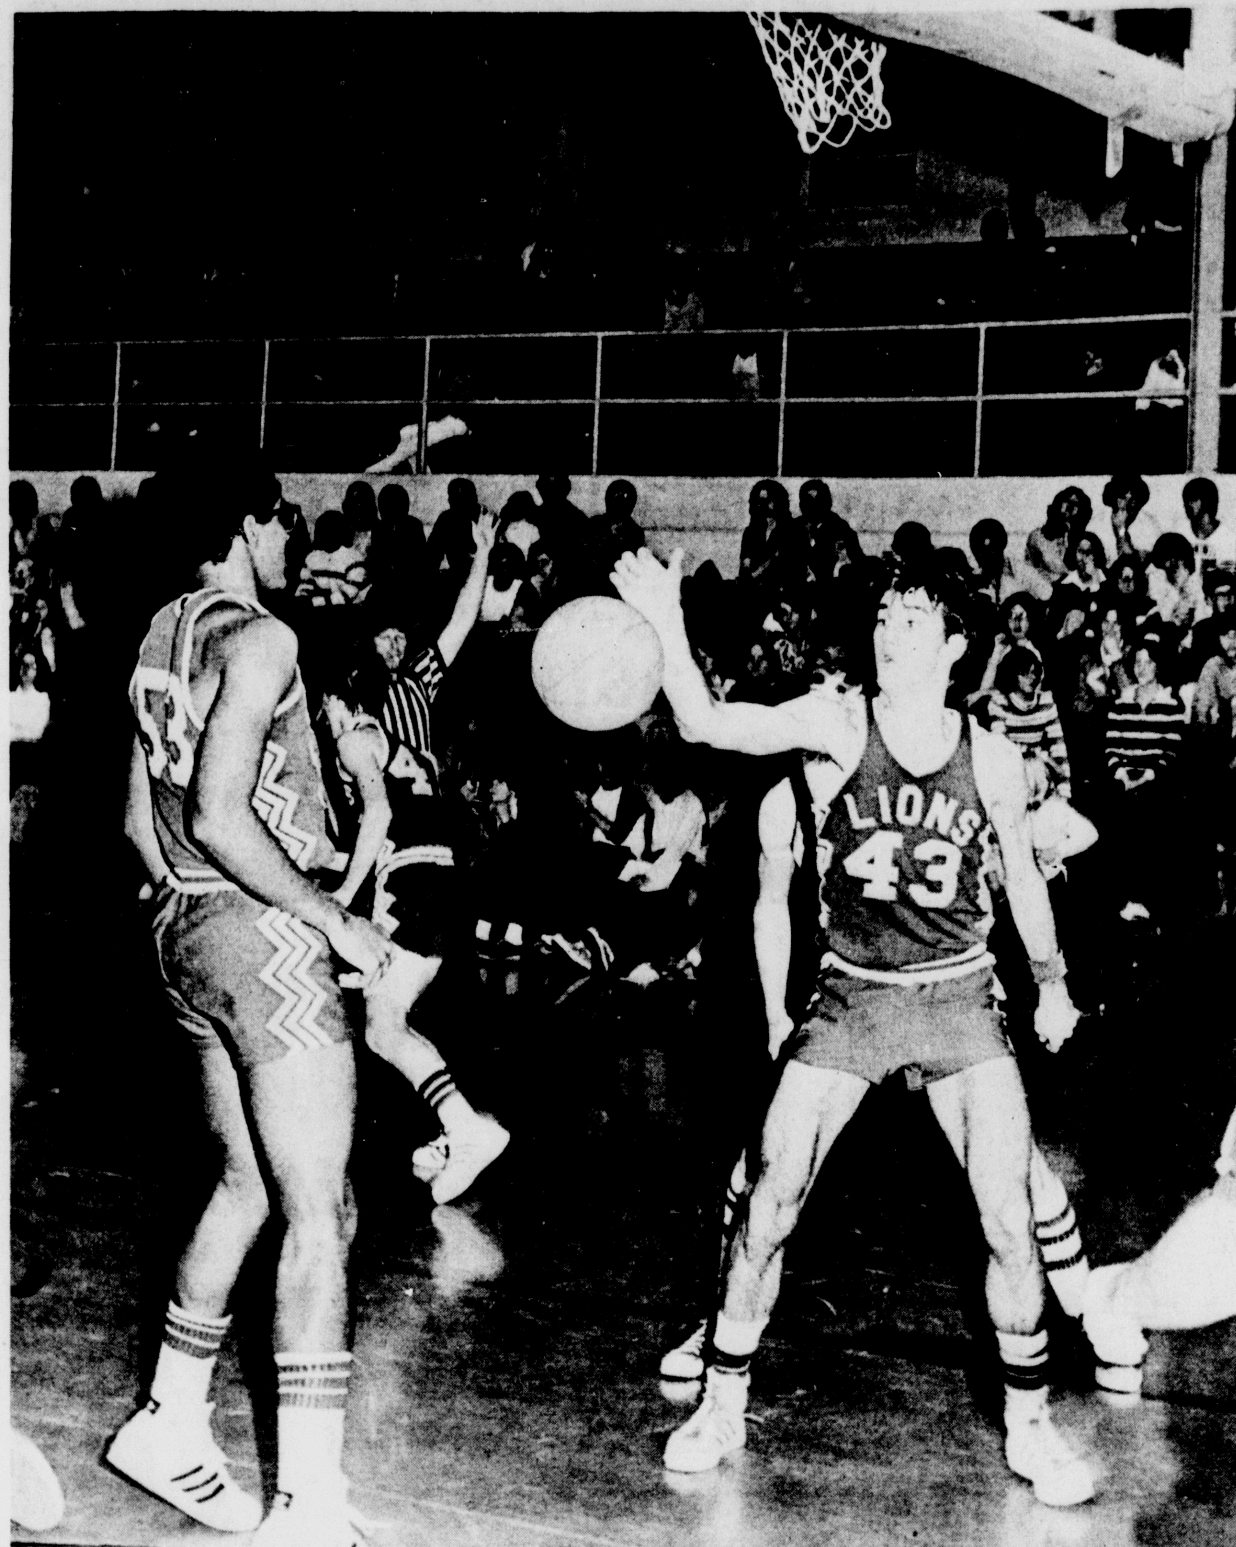

"I feel pretty good about that," said the product of Williamsburg, Va., Lafayette High School and Coffeyville, Kan., Junior College. "I was still learning Big Ten football and the system here. I'll be ready next season."

Despite his personal success, it has been a sour season for Springs.

"I felt we had the best team in the country. The Michigan and Oklahoma games (the Buckeyes' two losses in 11 games) hurt me. We want to show the rest of the country we're not a 9-2 team against Alabama," he said.

The Big Ten co-champions practiced today for their Sugar Bowl date with the Southeastern Conference winners Jan. 2 before the team Christmas party tonight.

Hayes has given the Buckeyes Christmas off. Instead of practicing, they will take a Mississippi River cruise.

THIS IS THE WAY TO DRIBBLE — John Denen (43) and Mike Turner (53) of Washington C.H. put on a mini-clinic for the Teays Valley fans on the art of dribbling the basketball at last night's SCOL contest. Denen poured in 30 points and scooped up 24 rebounds while the Lions were blasting the Vikings, 84-58. Turner contributed seven important rebounds in the contest. The win gives the Lions a 4-1 league mark, just one-half game behind the league leading Wilmington Hurricane. (R-H photo by Brian Balzer)

NFL playoffs begin today

Payton, Dorsett ready to show each others' skills

By The Associated Press

It's sort of a case of Mr. Inside vs. Mr. Outside.

It's Tony Dorsett, the Dallas Cowboys' rookie sensation, vs. Walter Payton, the Chicago Bears' rushing champion, in the first round of the National Conference playoff game Monday in Dallas.

"Walter Payton is the best running back in the National Football League," says Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "Payton is an excellent outside runner, but I believe Tony is more explosive running inside. It's very difficult to keep Payton from going outside. You've got to pursue and fill all the gaps."

It's the opening game of Phase II in the NFL playoffs. The second game is another matchup of rushing stars, Minnesota's Chuck Foreman against Lawrence McCutcheon and the rest of the Rams in Los Angeles.

In Phase I, today's American Conference first-rounders, Oakland visited Baltimore and Pittsburgh was at Denver.

Payton rolled up 1,852 yards this year, third best in league history, scored 16 touchdowns (14 rushing) and established a single-game mark of 275 yards in one game against Minnesota. Dorsett became only the eighth rookie in NFL history to gain 1,000 yards, finishing with 1,007 and a dozen TDs.

Dallas, the league leader in total offense and total defense, is rated a 10-point favorite to knock the Bears out of the first playoffs they've been in since 1963, when they won the NFL title.

The Chicago offense has more going for it than just Payton. Bob Avellini, who won the starting quarterback job from Mike Phipps in training camp, passed for 2,004 yards and 11 TDs — but was intercepted 18 times.

He'll also have to contend with Dallas' Dooomsday Defense, which led the conference in quarterback sacks with 53.

Dallas' offense, of course, has lots more than Dorsett going for it — like conference passing leader Roger Staubach (2,620 yards, 18 TDs and only nine interceptions).

Foreman, Minnesota's multi-purpose back, hit the 1,000-yard mark for the third straight year, winding up with 1,112 and six touchdowns. He also caught 38 passes for 348 yards and three more scores.

The Vikings, walloped 35-3 by Los Angeles last Oct. 24 and 10-point underdogs now, will have Bob Lee at quarterback in place of Fran Tarkenton, the Vikings' longtime regular who suffered a broken leg on Nov. 13.

McCutcheon gained 1,238 yards (7 TDs) to set a single season record for Ram rushing and become the club's career leader, too. Pat Haden, who replaced Joe Namath as the Rams' No. 1 quarterback, finished as the conference's No. 2 passer behind Staubach. Haden passed for 1,551 yards, 11 TDs and was intercepted six times.

Razorbacks on strike?

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz says he has been informed by attorney John W. Walker that 12 Razorback football players will not make the Orange Bowl trip because of Holtz's decision to exclude three standouts from the game.

Walker and attorney P.A. Hollingsworth, who are with the same law firm, are representing running backs Ben Cowins, Michael Forrest and flanker Donnie Bobo. The three were excluded from the Jan. 2 Orange Bowl against No. 2 Oklahoma by Holtz on Wednesday.

Hollingsworth, in Little Rock, Ark., had said 15 to 20 players were discussing whether to play in the Jan. 2 game because Cowins, Forrest and Bobo were excluded from playing. The three players accounted for 21 of Arkansas' 43 touchdowns in their 10-1 season.

"He (Walker) did not name them, but I have always respected the judgment of my players and will accept their decision," Holtz said in a statement

Friday.

"Nevertheless, the Razorback football team will play an outstanding football game on Jan. 2. If they do not wish to represent the University of Arkansas against Oklahoma, then it is in the best interest of all concerned that they remain at home."

Hollingsworth said that not playing in Miami was one of the alternatives which has come up in talks between other players and Cowins, Forrest and Bobo.

Merry Christmas!

On behalf of the Record-Herald sports staff, I would like to take this opportunity to wish the coaches, players, cheerleaders, statisticians, managers, trainers and fans of Washington C.H. and Miami Trace a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Florida State blasts Texas Tech, 40-17

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "What do we do for an encore next year?" Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden asked. "Heck, I don't know. I'll probably get fired."

In only two seasons, Bowden has transformed the Seminoles' football program from a ragtag perennial resident of the infamous "Bottom 20" to a respectable member of the nation's top 20.

With a 40-17 pasting of highly regarded Southwest Conference member Texas Tech in the 32nd annual Tangerine Bowl Friday night, Florida State put the finishing touch on a 10-2 season and improved its chances of improving on its No. 19 ranking in the final season poll.

"I believe this team is deserving of top 10 ranking," Bowden said. The Seminoles losses came at the hands of Miami (Fla.) and San Diego State.

"When the season started I honestly believed the best we could do was a 7-3-1 record.

"Our objective was earning a spot in the top 20. Then came a bowl bid. We've achieved each of those goals."

When Bowden took over in January 1976, Florida State's football program was most noted for 0-11 and 1-10 records in 1973 and 1974. His first season, the record improved to 5-6.

Now he looks to his young team with cautious optimism about 1978.

With an eye on perhaps a perfect 1978 campaign record, Bowden knows he has two fine quarterbacks in Jimmy Jordan and Larry Woodham.

Speedster Larry Key, who gained more than 300 all-purpose yards, provided the spark for the display of offensive might with a 93-yard kickoff return in the second period.

San Francisco upset by Rhode Island

By The Associated Press
 Bill Cartwright finally made his debut for the University of San Francisco — but he didn't make it good enough.
 The Dons needed more from their 6-foot-11 center than just 14 points Friday night, and as a result the nation's 11th-ranked basketball team lost a stunning 87-85 decision to unheralded Rhode Island.

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserve team lost a heartbreaking contest to the stubborn Teays Valley team to spoil coach Don Gibbs' Christmas by the score of 41-40.

With the score tied at 40-40, the Lions' Rick Nichols had to foul the Vikings' Doug Moss to prevent an unmolested layup with just :02 showing on the clock in the fourth quarter. Moss sank the first of two tries to spell defeat for the young Lions.

Teays Valley was led in scoring by Shawn Blue who had 18 points. Bill Pettibone added another 10 to the comeback victory.

Court House placed three cagers in double figures. David Cassidy, David Ginn and Clark Lee all had 10 points while Dennis Dahmer chipped in with eight.

The loss drops the the Lions' record to 2-4 this season. They will be back in action on Tuesday, Dec. 27 as they host the Waverly reserves.

Community Ed.
volleyball scores

In Community Education volleyball Thursday night, Huntington remained undefeated with a 15-1, 15-4 win over Staunton. In other action, McDonald's stayed the only team in the league without a win as they lost to Sander's, 15-3, 15-10; Maple Grove defeated New Holland, 15-10, 15-6; and the Miami Trace faculty downed Ev's, 15-10, 15-8.

ready,” said San Francisco Coach Bob Gaillard. “We'll just have to keep him running until he is.”

Obviously, too, the entire San Francisco team hasn't been ready the past two days. The Dons lost a one-point decision the previous evening to California and, coupled with the loss to Rhode Island, dropped two in a row at home for the first time under Gaillard's eight year administration.

The Dons, who had a 29-game winning streak last season and lost only two games the entire year, have now dropped three this season already. Part of their problem has been the loss of Cartwright, who broke his left arm in a pickup game before the season started.

In other games involving the ranked teams, No. 1 Kentucky routed Iona 104-

65; No. 3 North Carolina outscored Tulane 108-103; No. 5 Notre Dame hammered St. Joseph's of Indiana 108-72; No. 7 UCLA coasted past New Mexico State 86-67 and Utah State upset No. 17 Utah 73-71.

Rhode Island's Sylvester Williams made a free throw with 14 seconds remaining, then stole a San Francisco pass to clinch the Rams' upset. Williams finished with 12 points while four other Rhode Island players scored in double figures. Winford Boynes led San Francisco with 22 points.

Reserves James Lee and Chuck Aleksinas keyed a 19-2 run late in the first half to help Kentucky breeze by Iona. The Wildcats led by just 21-19 with 7:58 left in the first half when the subs took over.

Lee hit four field goals and a free throw in the first half while Aleksinas scored on a pair of close-in jumpers and four free throws as the nation's No. 1 team ran away to a 40-21 advantage that virtually decided the game.

Al Wood and Mike O'Koren scored 21 points apiece to lead North Carolina over Tulane. It was the most points the Tar Heels had scored in a game this year and also the most points they'd given up in any contest this season.

Dave Batton hit eight of 10 field goal attempts and scored 19 points to lead six double-figure scorers as Notre Dame bombed St. Joseph's of Indiana. Don Williams had 18 points for the Irish and Orlando Woolridge came off the bench to score a career-high 16.

Roy Hamilton scored 23 points and sparked a second-half runaway as UCLA routed New Mexico State. Hamilton collected eight of his points as the Bruins scored the first 10 points of the second half to break away from a 34-34 halftime tie. The Bruins then coasted to their fourth straight victory and eighth in nine starts.

Oscar Williams scored on a driving layup with three seconds left to boost Utah State over Utah. Utah State trailed most of the game before catching Utah at the end.

Elsewhere, Aaron Curry, Cary Carrabine and John McCullough scored 14 points each to lead Oklahoma to a 65-48 victory over South Carolina in the finals of the Carolina Classic at Columbia, S.C.; Richard Glasper scored 24 points to pace Florida to a 93-

67 triumph over Vermont in the Vermont Classic in Burlington and Mike Gray's 29 points led Nevada-Reno to an 89-75 victory over Idaho State in the championship game of the Wolf Pack Classic in Reno, Nev.

Harry Davis accounted for 20 points and 13 rebounds as Florida State whipped Missouri 97-64; undefeated Nebraska won its ninth straight game with a 104-60 rout of Montana State behind Carl McPipe's 21 points. Kenny Davis and Phil Taylor combined for 41 points to lead Arizona past Pepperdine 110-65; Rod Griffin's 27 points powered Wake Forest over Washington 77-70; Rickey Lee's 17 points led Oregon State over Gonzaga 76-65 and San Diego State defeated Brigham Young 104-88 behind Kim Goetz' 26 points.

RECORDS

Laugh Along With 20 Comedians

Everybody was worried whether it would be done tastefully. "The package was done very tastefully. And we didn't use any names in big type, followed by 'and others.' Nobody is treated any more favorably than anybody else. The names are in the same size type and everybody got the same monetary compensation. Within the budget we had, it was divided equally among 20 people. Nobody participated exclusively for monetary gain. It's the idea, I think, of being in a somewhat historical, somewhat prestigious product, apart from an entertaining collection of material."

He arranged the order of the cuts somewhat chronologically, Wekser says, but also put together ones that he thought more or less fitted. "Lenny Bruce was a hard one to fit in; I wasn't sure where I wanted to put it. It's with Lily Tomlin and Richard Pryor."

"The Firesign Theater and Cheech and Chong I felt were kind of the new style of comedy. They played well with the National Lampoon. Vaughn Meader and David Frye were one side, not by accident."

The album is out in time for Christmas but Wekser expects buyers still to be interested in it next year. Cuts on it are by: Stan Freberg, Eddie Lawrence, Marty Allen and Steve Rossi, Kermit Schaefer, Jonathan Winters, Bill Dana, Allan Sherman, Shelley Berman, Mike Nichols and Elaine May, Carl Reiner and Mel Brooks, Vaughn Meader, David Frye, Lenny Bruce, Cheech and Chong, Firesign Theater and National Lampoon.

Putting the album together, Wekser had to listen to it over and over. He's proud of everything on the album, he says, but at the time of his final listenings, he felt like Molly taking to Fibber. "T'ain't funny, McGee."

DEATHWORK. By James McLendon. Lippincott. 327 Pages. $8.95.

Writer James McLendon's name is not too well known but that might change with the publication of "Deathwork."

Written in powerful but controlled prose, the novel looks at the death penalty from the personal side, from the point of view of the people who have to carry out the penalty and from the point of view of the people who are to die in the electric chair. McLendon treats both sides with compassion and fairness. No trace of the maudlin mars his writing.

"Deathwork" is set in the present, but since this is a novel it is McLendon's present and not reality. In McLendon's society, the death penalty has been reinstated in a Southern state, after having been in abeyance for some 12 years. Four of the inmates of Death Row have been selected to die in the electric chair; one is a woman. None is admirable. The woman
